Senator Fairbanks has been about agreed upon as President Roosevelt's running mate next year. Since Indianapolis has gone Democratic, it is understood that something must be done to save Indiana.

The Marquis of Donegal, who at the age of 81 years was married last December to Miss Adela Twining, a Canadian heiress has been presented with a male heir, to the dismay and infinite disgust of his brother, aged 69, who regarded his succession to the title a certainty. The old marquis is now 82, while his wife is but 22.

One of the most notable weddings that ever took place in Louisville was celebrated at noon Saturday in Christ church cathedral when Miss Alice Castleman became the bride of Mr. Augustus C. Hone. The bride is a daughter of Gen. Jno. B. Castleman and has been called the "prettiest young woman in Kentucky."

John Alexander Dowie made his first appearance before a New York audience Sunday night. Fully 14,000 were at Madison Square Garden when the service began and about 5,000 were on the outside. Many who came through curiously began leaving early and Dowie strongly rebuked them. He then delivered his sermon, which made no impression.

The Alaskan Boundary Commissioners reached an agreement in London Saturday sustaining all the American content on, in the case with the exception of those in relation to the Portland canal. The decision is a great disappointment to Canada, as it gives that country

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surface of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning it is extremely hazardous to neglect, so important is a healthy action of these organs. They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency.

"I had pains in my back, could not sleep and when I got up in the morning felt worse than the night before. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and now I can sleep and get up feeling rested and able to do my work. I attribute my cure entirely to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. J. N. PERRY, care H. S. Copeland, Pike Road, Ala.

only a small island or two on the canal. Under the decision, it is claimed, no American citizen will lose a foot of land and the United States will get all the waterways to the rich Alaskan territory with the exception of the Portland canal. The Canadians are denouncing the decision in severe terms. It will be signed by both parties and must be accepted as final.

COFFEY CASE.

Evidence All In and Speech-Making Begins Today.

There Will be Eight Speeches And Case Will Go to Jury Thursday.

Speaking in the Coffey murder case will begin this morning. There will be three speeches for the Commonwealth and five for the defense. Messrs. Southall & Son, C. H. Bush, J. T. Hanbery and Judge Yost will argue for the defense and Mr. Hunter Wood, Judge Reeves and Commonwealth's Attorney Howell for the prosecution.

The principal witness in the trial of the defendants, Jim Merical and John Black, col., charged with complicity in the murder of Special Deputy Robert Coffey, was Guy Reynolds, one of the striking miners indicted jointly with them. He testified in substance that on the night before the murder he and John Black, Jim Merical, Francis Drake, Ernest Brumfield, Mac Young and John Bowling left the union camp at Nortonville and proceeded to a hill near the Empire mines, and the next morning fired on the non-union miners going to work. He described the flight back to camp and pursuit by Officer Coffey. He saw the officer fall from his horse. Several others in the party, he said, also fired their guns. Corroborative evidence was given by a number of witnesses. A number of witnesses who testified had appeared in the case when John Woodruff and Francis Drake were convicted and given life sentences last spring. The defense introduced a number of witnesses to prove that Merical and Black were in camp at the time of the killing and a strong effort was made to prove an alibi in both cases. The defendants were placed on the witness stand in their own behalf Saturday. Merical testified that he did not leave the union camp at Nortonville the night before the murder, and was in the camp at the time the killing occurred. Black testified that he was at Morton's Gap at the time the killing took place.

The case will likely go to the jury Thursday afternoon. The grand jury reconvened yesterday and after returning a few more bills adjourned sine die.

The Delineator for November.

In the November issue of the Delineator sustains its recognized position as the foremost fashion publication and one of the high-class literary magazines. Excellent reading and refined art supplement the display of winter fashions, which are more charming than at any previous time. In fiction there is the second installment of the Evolution of a Club Woman, the bold narrative of a woman's experiences in clubdom, purporting to be fact; a clever short story by William MacLeod Raine, entitled An Unpremeditated Engagement; An Interrupted Honeymoon, by Lillie Hamilton French, a pathetic incident of a little Yorkshire terrier; and a Western story by Minna O. Smith. In the second of his remarkable photographic articles, J. C. Hemment relates some of his thrilling adventures with the camera. N. Hudson Moore has a strikingly interesting paper on Chrysanthemums, and in the "Miladi" paper Clara E. Laughlin writes of Conflicting Tendencies in early married life. A House Small but Artistic is planned and described by Alice M. Kellogg, and in "Carlotta and I" Miles Bradford tells the story of an old-fashioned Thanksgiving. For the children there is a Firelight Story, by Livingston B. Morse; entertaining Pastimes by Miss Lina Beard, describing the construction of the Statue of Zeus at Olympia; an amusing story by C. V. C. Mathews, called We Meet Monsieur Daguerre, and a Sewing Lesson. In addition there are numerous articles by experts treating problems of the home and household.

Fashions For Brides

There was a time when there were but two materials that were considered suitable for the wedding gown, namely, silk and satin. But to-day the bridal dress may be selected from a variety of fabrics. If a silk or satin be chosen, it must be of the handsomest, but a lace gown is even more attractive, while one of chiffon or Liberty gauze is daintiest of all. When the last are made in either the tucked or shirred styles they are fascinating and very little trimming is required. Even the inexpensive India silks, in the ivory tint, are used with charming results. The seafoam taffetas, too, may be used, but would be more attractive as a foundation for the fine sheer woollens—veiling and voile—that are so favored. The long, unbroken lines of the princess mode make it a favorite for heavy satin or silk, and fortunately the design for the front of the waist is not so severe as formerly. Lace may be draped in surplice folds or arranged in short bolero form, and folds of the material are sometimes used to soften the rather severe lines. Perhaps the best liked material is crepe de Chine; it falls in such graceful lines and is suggestive of the most artistic possibilities. The question of veils is an important one, and many prefer the simple, unadorned tulle veils to those of costly lace; certainly the tulle veil is the most becoming. White silk stockings and white satin, kid or lace slippers are worn with the white wedding gown, and white suede gloves, preferably with the mousquetaire wrist, are the correct hand wearing. —From The Delineator for November.
